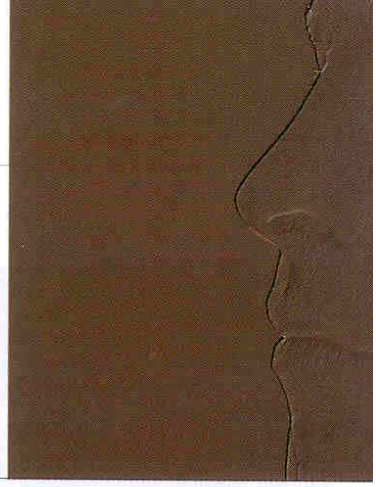
"What part of your job brings you the most satisfaction?"



"I receive the most satisfaction from coming to work each day and 'greeting my kids.' We have a young firm. Our management stresses a family work environment. And I practice it by saying hello to, and chatting with, our mostly young staff each day. It makes me feel good and, I believe, our staff feels good about working for a firm that cares."

Rodney P. Plourde
McMahon Associates
Ft. Washington, Pa.

NEXT ISSUE

Ask Members Question:

What has been your most difficult engineering challenge and how did you overcome it?

To be eligible to have your opinion appear in the next issue of Engineering Inc., please submit your response (75 words maximum) along with a high-resolution, electronic color head shot to Staff Editor Andrea Keeney at akeeney@asce.org by November 24, 2004.